ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many persons participated in the processing operations of the 1960 Censuses of Population and Housing—a major aspect of which was the development and preparation of the geographic identification code scheme. This code scheme was the primary source of the geographic information required for the processing and tabulation activities of these censuses and the publication of the census results. In addition to those persons from the Decennial Operations Division and Geography Division listed above, major contributions were made by Richard A. Hornseth, George E. Turner, Betty S. Mitchell, and Willard P. Hess, of the Decennial Operations Division, Charles P. Brinkman, of the Population Division, and Edward E. Latimer, of the Geography Division.

This publication comprises the code schemes and related information published separately for the various States and the District of Columbia in Series PHC(2)-2 through 52.

Definitions and Explanations

In order to meet the processing and tabulation requirements of the 1960 Censuses of Population and Housing, the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, developed a system of codes which identifies all the various political and statistical subdivisions for which data are tabulated. This publication presents a detailed list of the codes which have been assigned, and the names of the areas to which the codes relate.

The contents for each State are divided into two sections: the Geographic Identification Code Scheme, which lists all the areas within the State, in alphabetic sequence by county, minor civil division (or census county division), and place; and an Alphabetic List of Place Names, which lists all the places within the State, in alphabetic sequence, as well as the standard metropolitan statistical areas and urbanized areas, or portions thereof, located within the State.[1]

STATE CODES

A two-digit numeric code has been assigned to each of the 50 States and the District of Columbia. Except in the cases of Alaska and Hawaii, the first digit of the code indicates the geographic division in which the State is located and the second, the specific State within the division. Exceptions were made for Alaska and Hawaii because their codes were established prior to their attainment of Statehood and before decision was made to include them in the Pacific Division. The State codes and the geographic regions and divisions in which they are located are listed below:

COUNTIES

The primary divisions of the States are, in general, called counties. In Louisiana the nearest equivalent of counties are known as parishes and in Alaska as election districts. There are a number of cities in Virginia, and one each in Maryland and Missouri, which are independent of any county organization and thus constitute primary divisions of their States. Within each State, a three-digit numeric code (referred to as the county code) has been assigned to each county, parish, election district, or independent city. The sequence of these codes reflects the alphabetic sequence within the State. In Virginia, the 32 independent cities follow the counties, in alphabetic sequence.

MINOR CIVIL DIVISIONS AND CENSUS COUNTY DIVISIONS

The Bureau of the Census applies the term "minor civil divisions" (MCD's) to the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, e.g., towns, townships, precincts, etc. In 18 States the Census Bureau has established special, and relatively permanent, statistical areas designated as census county divisions (CCD's).[2] These special areas are comparable to, and are used in census tabulations instead of, the minor civil divisions of other States. Within each county, a three-digit numeric code has been assigned to each minor civil division or census county division. The sequence of these codes reflects the alphabetic sequence within the county.

PLACES

The term "place" refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most places are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs. In addition, the larger unincorporated places outside the urbanized areas (see "Urbanized Areas" for definition) have been delineated and those with a population of 1,000 or more treated in the same manner as incorporated places of equal size. Furthermore, unincorporated places within urbanized areas are treated in the same manner as other places if they have 10,000 inhabitants or more and if there was an expression of local interest in their recognition. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban (see "Urban-rural Residence" for definition) are also treated as places.

Political units which have been recognized as incorporated places by the Bureau of the Census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages except that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin. In New Jersey and Pennsylvania townships are not classified as "incorporated places" even though some townships possess powers and functions similar to those of incorporated places. However, where towns and townships in these States also qualify as thickly settled centers of population (see "Urban-rural Residence" for definition) they are recognized as such and classified by the Census Bureau as urban towns or townships. In addition, the densely settled portions of some towns and townships are also recognized and are classified as unincorporated places.

Within each State, a four-digit numeric code has been assigned to each incorporated place, unincorporated place, or urban town or township. The sequence of these codes reflects the alphabetic sequence within the State.

Place Description

The following code scheme describes each type of place identified in the 1960 Censuses:

1 Central City (incorporated) of a standard metropolitan statistical area only (see "Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas" for definition)

2 Central City (incorporated) of an urbanized area only

3 Central City (incorporated) of both a standard metropolitan statistical area and an urbanized area

4 Other incorporated place

5 Unincorporated place

6 Urban towns in New England, urban townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and urban counties elsewhere

7 Not a place (i.e., land area not classifiable in any of groups 1 through 6 above)

One of these descriptive codes has been assigned to each area listed in the Geographic Identification Code Scheme.

[2]The 18 States in which census county divisions have been established are Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Kentucky, Montana, New Mexico, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Place Size

The following code scheme describes the place size categories identified in the 1960 Censuses:

15	1,000,000 or more
14	500,000 to 999,999
13	250,000 to 499,999
12	100,000 to 249,999
11	50,000 to 99,999
10	25,000 to 49,999
9	20,000 to 24,999
8	10,000 to 19,999
7	5,000 to 9,999
6	2,500 to 4,999
5	2,000 to 2,499
4	1,500 to 1,999
3	1,000 to 1,499
2	500 to 999
1	200 to 499
0	Under 200

One of these size codes has been assigned to each incorporated or unincorporated place, or urban town or township.

URBAN-RURAL RESIDENCE

According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Censuses, the urban population comprises all persons living in:

(a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages and towns (except towns in New England, New York and Wisconsin)

(b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see "Urbanized Areas" for definition)

(c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more, or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile

(d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile

(e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more outside urbanized areas

The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population. Each area identified in the 1960 Censuses has been assigned a one-digit numeric code, "0" if urban, "1" if rural.

AREA NAMES

The names of all counties, minor civil divisions (or census county divisions), and places identified for the 1960 Censuses are shown in Section A of this publication. In those cases where a place is located in more than one county or minor civil division, the word "part" appears after the place name in parentheses, and the name is listed under each of the areas in which it is located. The term "uninc" appears in parentheses after names of unincorporated places.

The designation of city, town, village or borough which appears following a minor civil division or place name does not constitute a part of the name; rather, it is a descriptive word, indicating the type of political organization. In those cases where the word city, town, village, or borough is a part of the official area name, the area designation is also shown, e.g., New York City city; Brownsboro Village city, etc.

(Note: The names of unincorporated places which were identified for enumeration purposes in the 1960 Censuses but whose final population count did not qualify them as separate places are included only in Section B. They are not shown separately in Section A or in the census tabulations.)

PREFIX AREA AND ENUMERATION DISTRICT NUMBERS

For purposes of enumeration, the entire country was divided into 3,628 prefix areas, and further subdivided into approximately 270,000 small areas, called enumeration districts (ED's). Enumeration district boundaries were established so as to observe political and statistical areas. The prefix areas were defined prior to the actual census enumeration for administrative reasons and processing convenience. In general, each prefix area represents a city of 50,000 or more persons (codes 400-499), or a county or remainder of a county outside a city of 50,000 or more (codes 001-399).

Within a prefix area, each ED was assigned a basic numeric code, from 0001 to 9999. In addition, an ED may also carry an alphabetic suffix code, N through Z (except O, Q, and V). These alphabetic suffixes indicate "geographic splits" and were used to define enumeration assignments. In the typical situation, all ED's designated for assignment to a single enumerator were given the same basic numeric code, followed by differing alphabetic suffixes. The ED numbers shown in Section A give the range (or ranges) of the consecutive ED numbers which constitute each area, in terms of both the basic numbers and the geographic alphabetic suffixes. For example, an area may consist of ED's 1 through 19 and ED's 24N through 27. Section A, however, does not indicate how many additional geographic splits there may be for ED 24 (for example, there may or may not be ED's numbered 24P,R, etc.) or whether ED's 2 through 18, or ED's 25 and 26 may actually have geographic splits N,P,R, etc.

(Note: Enumeration districts, deemed by the field operation to be too large for efficient and accurate canvassing by one enumerator were subdivided in the Census field offices prior to the beginning of enumeration. These subdivisions were assigned an additional alphabetic suffix code, A through K (except I). However, since all parts of a "field split" ED refer to the same area, field splits are not separately identified in the geographic code scheme.)

STANDARD METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS

To permit all Federal statistical agencies to use the same areas for the publication of general-purpose statistics, the Bureau of the Budget has established 215 standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's).[3] Except in New England, an SMSA is a county or group of contiguous counties which contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more or two contiguous cities with a combined population of at least 50,000, the smaller of which must have at least 15,000 inhabitants. These cities are designated as the central cities of SMSA's. In addition to the county, or counties, containing such a city or cities, contiguous counties are included in an SMSA if, according to certain criteria, they are essentially metropolitan in character and are socially and economically integrated with the central city.

In New England an SMSA is a minor civil division or group of contiguous minor civil divisions which contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more or two contiguous cities with a combined population of at least 50,000, the smaller of which must have at least 15,000 inhabitants. In addition to the minor civil division or divisions containing such a city or cities, contiguous minor civil divisions are included in an SMSA if they are essentially metropolitan in character and are socially and economically integrated with the central city.

Within the United States, a four-digit numeric code has been assigned to each SMSA. The sequence of these codes reflects the alphabetic sequence throughout the entire country, including Puerto Rico. The SMSA's, or portions thereof, which are located within a State are listed at the end of Section B, together with their numeric codes.

STANDARD CONSOLIDATED AREAS

In some areas, metropolitan characteristics and social and economic integration extend over a larger area than can be encompassed within the definition of a single SMSA. In recognition of this fact and the need for even more inclusive metropolitan statistics, the Bureau of the Budget has designated two standard consolidated areas (SCA's). They are the New York-Northeastern New Jersey and the Chicago-Northwestern Indiana Standard Consolidated Areas.[4] The New York area has been assigned code "A" and the Chicago area "B"

STATE ECONOMIC AREAS

State economic areas (SEA's) are relatively homogeneous subdivisions of States. They consist of single counties or groups of counties which have similar economic and social characteristics. The boundaries of these areas have been drawn in such a way that each State is subdivided into relatively few parts, with each part having certain significant characteristics which distinguish it from adjoining areas. The result is a group of areas, smaller than States, on the one hand, and larger than counties, on the other, which are relatively homogeneous with respect to a large number of characteristics.

Generally, SEA's are classified as metropolitan or nonmetropolitan on the basis of their relationship to SMSA's. Each SMSA with a total population of a 100,000 or more in 1960 and a central city of 50,000 or more is also recognized as a separate metropolitan SEA. When such an SMSA is located in two or more States, each State part becomes a metropolitan SEA. However, this correspondence does not exist in New England because SMSA's are built up from MCD's. In New England, counties with more than half their population in one or more SMSA's are components of metropolitan SEA's.

The United States has been subdivided into 508 SEA's.[5] Within each State, a two-digit numeric code has been assigned to each nonmetropolitan SEA and a one-digit alphabetic code has been assigned to each metropolitan SEA.

ECONOMIC SUBREGIONS

Economic subregions (ESR's) represent combinations of State economic areas. By this combination, the 508 SEA's are consolidated into a group of 121 relatively homogeneous areas without regard to State boundaries.[6] Within the United States, a three-digit numeric code has been assigned each ESR.

URBANIZED AREAS

An urbanized area contains (1) at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1960 or two cities having contiguous boundaries and constituting, for general economic and social purposes, a single community with a combined population of at least 50,000, the smaller of which must have a population of at least 15,000, and (2) all the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed below.[7] All persons residing in an urbanized area are included in the urban population. Since the urbanized area outside of incorporated places was defined in terms of enumeration districts, the boundaries for the most part follow such landmarks as roads, streets, railroads, streams, and other clearly defined lines which may be easily identified by census enumerators in the field and often do not conform to the boundaries of political units.

In addition to its central city or cities, an urbanized area also contains the following types of contiguous areas, which together constitute its urban fringe:

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more
2. Incorporated places with less than 2,500 inhabitants, provided each has a closely settled area of 100 dwelling units or more
3. Towns in the New England States, townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and counties elsewhere, which are classified as urban
4. Enumeration districts in unincorporated territory with a population density of 1,000 inhabitants or more per square mile (Areas devoted to nonresidential urban land uses such as railroad yards, factories, and cemeteries were excluded in computing the population density of an enumeration district.)
5. Other enumeration districts in unincorporated territory with lower population density, provided that they served one of the following purposes:
   a. Elimination of enclaves
   b. Closing of indentations in the urbanized area of one mile or less across the open end
   c. Linking of outlying enumeration districts of qualifying density that were no more than 1-1/2 miles from the main body of the urbanized area

Urbanized areas are divided into two parts: (1) the central city, or cities, and (2) the remainder of the area, or the urban fringe. Any city in an urbanized area which is a central city of an SMSA is also a central city of the urbanized area. With but two exceptions, the names of the central cities appear in the titles of the areas. The New York-Northeastern New Jersey urbanized area includes the central cities of New York, Newark, Jersey City, Paterson, Clifton, and Passaic. The Chicago-Northwestern Indiana urbanized area includes the central cities of Chicago, Gary, Hammond, and East Chicago.

Within the United States a four-digit numeric code has been assigned to each urbanized area. The sequence of these codes reflects the alphabetic sequence throughout the entire country, including Puerto Rico. The urbanized areas, or portions thereof, which are located within a State are listed at the end of Section B, together with their numeric codes.

UNIVERSAL AREA CODES

The universal area code (UAC) consists of a four-digit numeric code which has been assigned to each area requiring separate identification in the tabulations of mobility and place of work in the 1960 Census of Population. These areas consist of the central city or cities of SMSA's, counties or portions thereof, outside central cities, and selected MCD's in the New England States. Generally, the first two digits of the universal area code for a given area are the same as the State code, with the last two digits representing the county, city, or MCD within the State. However, in those States where there are more than 99 counties or other types of area to be identified, this identity with the State codes no longer exists.

The universal area codes have been assigned to areas within a State in such a fashion that the areas which comprise an SMSA can be expressed as a range of UAC's. For example, the six counties which constitute the Chicago (Illinois) Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area and the ten places within that area to be separately identified in the tabulations have been assigned UAC's 3301 through 3317. Furthermore, within the SMSA's the codes have been assigned so that each county may in turn be expressed as a range of UAC's. For example, Cook county and the seven places within Cook county for which tabulations are required have been assigned codes 3301 through 3308; Kane county and the two places within it have been assigned codes 3309 through 3311, etc. It should be pointed out, however, that for those SMSA's which cross State lines, only the portions within each State can be expressed as ranges of UAC's.

There are three exceptions to the above discussed general rule that component portions of SMSA's can be expressed as ranges of UAC's. They are the Albany (Georgia), Galveston-Texas City (Texas), and Brownsville-Harlingen-San Benito (Texas) SMSA's.

All counties in the United States have been assigned a UAC. In addition, central cities of SMSA's and selected MCD's in the New England States are identified. Therefore, for some areas two four-digit universal area codes appear, one for county, the other for the city or MCD.

[7] For list of areas included in each urbanized area, see U. S. Bureau of the Census, U. S. Census of Population: 1960, Number of Inhabitants, State reports (PC(1)-2A through 52A), U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 1960 and 1961, Table 10.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS

The congressional districts delineated for the 1960 Censuses reflect the boundaries as of April 1, 1960. Generally speaking, this reflects the congressional districts as they were constituted when the 86th Congress was elected. A two-digit numeric code has been assigned to each congressional district, reflecting the number of each district within a State. A code of 01 has been assigned to all areas within a State for those States which have only representatives at large. A code of 00 has been assigned to the District of Columbia which has no congressional representation.[8]
